Mission

Since 1855 the name Gamewell has been synonymous with fire alarms. Even today, our mission remains...

Safeguarding people and property

As a part of Honeywell Life Safety, we are committed to providing technologically advanced, compliant fire alarm and mass notification systems. Whether your building project is for operations, office, storage, high-rise, multi-family housing or base-wide facilities, Gamewell-FCI has a life safety solution for you.

The Gamewell-FCI Difference

We use the latest microprocessors, network communications, and advanced components to ensure highly reliable and survivable systems. What's more, our products are designed with a technology migration path to minimize product obsolescence issues that harm your investment.

Unique products and services for the lifetime of your building

Let the experts at Gamewell-FCI provide a sensible life safety solution that adapts as your facilities change and grow. It's our way of combining technology and tradition.
